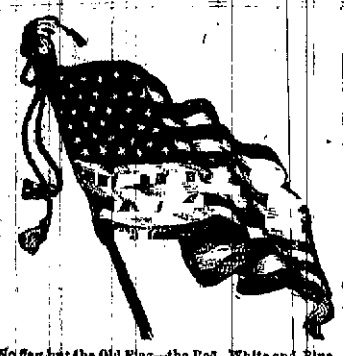
OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE CITY.



No flag but the Old Fing—the Red, White and Blue,
With the stars of a Union unbroken and true!
Arise and defend it! ye sons of the brave,
Whose blood bought the banner your valor must save

THURSDAY MORNING, MAY 8, 1862.

The Tendency of Peace Democracy.

Many of the former democrats who have gone into the "Union Democratic" organization, and joined in the general howl about "unconstitutionality," assumption of power," "corruption," &c., so persistently kept up by the genuine secessionists, we are led to believe do not seriously consider the company they keep, or the tendency of their associations. Whoever has had a vigilant eye as to how men have conducted themselves the past year, cannot fail to perceive the same arguments used to-day in favor of this "Union democracy" that were used a year ago against coercion by the new high priests and rulers of this wicked rebellion. Scarcely six months ago John C. Breckinridge was defending the Constitution and making himself the champion of constitutional liberty by just such—by precisely the same—arguments that our orators on the democratic side are using to persuade the people of Oregon to vote their State ticket. Many a man that last Fall or Summer read the speeches of John C. Breckinridge with approval and stood ready to follow whither they pointed, so far as mere words could indicate anything, would have repelled with anger the charge at that time that his champion and leader would carry him into the ranks of traitors; and many will find to their sorrow, unless we are misled by the multitudes of men, and by present indications, that we have Breckinridges among us. It is shocking, however, to notice that some who must look to vamp up the old democratic party are becoming satisfied that these "Union democratic" candidates are promising what they can fulfill, and more than they intended to fulfill; that they profess what they do not and never did believe, and that their success will be a cause of anxiety and alarm to all lovers of true peace and of the Union.

The new apportionment of Ohio for nineteen members of Congress, so changes the districts that it will be impossible for the dirty dog Vallandigham to get a re-election. He is thrown into a district good for 1,200 republican majority, according to former votes. The Columbus district is made still stronger democratic than ever before. The Cincinnati Enquirer figures up that fourteen districts are republican and five democratic, a democratic loss of two.

The Detroit Tribune reiterates a statement it made some months ago, that a treasonable organization exists in that State, having branches in all the principal towns, the object of which was first of all to prevent enlistments, and to make forcible resistance to any attempt to draft. It seems that it is still watching an opportunity to do mischief.

A Great Telescope.—David Abdill, of Sutter county, Cal., is about constructing a telescope which, it is believed, will be larger than any one now in the United States. The tube will be thirteen and a half feet long and fifteen inches in diameter.

Patent medicine men are very nervous about the Federal tax bill. A committee representing that interest has been in Washington some days. They claim that the proposed stamp tax on proprietary medicines will amount to $6,000,000. The more the better.

The Springfield Republican says the work of gun making is crowded to such an extent at the armory now, that all the daylight there between sun and sun is used, and over $5,000 worth of gas per quarter.

The monument to be erected over the grave of David Broderick, at Lone Mountain Cemetery, is to be a column of California marble thirty-one feet high, surmounted by a statue of the illustrious deceased.

A sergeant of the Twenty-first Regiment writes that among the cannon captured by Gen. Burnside, at Newbern, were thirteen brass field pieces taken by the enemy at Bull Run.

The Secretary of the Treasury lately received from a New York banking house $1,000, the gift of a patriotic American in Europe, for the purpose of war expenses.

A Mining Town Without Liquor.—It is said there is not a liquor shop or bar in the village of Last Chance, Cal., owing to the exertions of the Sons of Temperance.

Charles Mackay, the English poet, denies that he has anything whatever to do with the cause of secession.

British Opinion of American Soldiers.—Lord Lyons and the Prince de Joinville, accompanied by a large number of ladies and members of the diplomatic corps, were in attendance recently at a grand review of Gen. McDowell's Division, together with several British Colonels of note, and officers of the Coldstream Grenadier Guards, of Canada. Gen. McClellan, with his entire staff, was on the field, and was everywhere received with the utmost enthusiasm. The British officers expressed great surprise at the superior stature, drill, and general appearance of the men, and declared the troops to be unexcelled in all the elements of efficiency. Lord Lyons expressed the greatest admiration of the fine physique of the men, and regarded them as the finest troops he had ever seen. It was plain, however, that the foreign military men did not consider the officers, as a class, equal to the rank and file.

A Truly Democratic President.—The frank simplicity and straight forwardness, not unmixed with dignity of the President has been just illustrated by an incident which is probably without a parallel or precedent. The House Judiciary Committee, who are engaged in ferreting out the leaks by which important State papers have been purloined and made public, to the National detriment had before them the premature disclosure of the President's last annual Message. Apprised of the fact, Mr. Lincoln voluntarily sunk his position as Chief Magistrate, and assuming that of the citizen appeared before the Committee as his own request, in order to put them in possession of the facts so far as they were known to him. The details of the interview are withheld, but the incident is a happy illustration of the Republican simplicity of our Government, and of the ingenuous character of its executive head.

Something over a year ago one Sobieski Bennett, who has had an occasional or transient domicile in St. Louis, was arrested in Northern Ohio, charged with burglary. Before trial, by the aid of confederates, he broke jail and escaped. He was taken prisoner at Donelson, having a captaincy in the rebel army. Being identified he was taken back, arraigned, plead guilty, and was sentenced to the penitentiary for a term of years. His is not the first instance of felons and escaped convicts being found decked with the insignia of military rank in the chivalrous army. There were several such in Western Virginia, in the summer—"high-toned, Southern gentlemen, fighting for homes and hearth-stones and all their cherished institutions."—St. Louis Democrat.

A correspondent of the New York Herald writing from Winchester, Va., relates the following: "Horrors will never cease. I witnessed some scenes to-day which impressed me strongly with the civilization of the South. I visited the medical college in this town, where M. D.'s are furnished to the Southern Confederacy. Prominent among the objects in the museum was the body of John Brown, the integuments taken off, and the muscles, veins and arteries all preserved, the top of the cranium sawed off, and the lips purposely distorted with disrespect."—[It was the son of John Brown, whose body was treated as above described by the secession slaveholders.

Another rifled gun of immense size has just been finished at the Fort Pitt Works, and shipped to Washington. It was made from the regular ten-inch columbiad pattern, and is of eight inches bore. The gun is consequently much heavier than the regular ten-inch columbiad, weighing, it is said, over eight tons. The rifling was performed in the most satisfactory manner, and the gun will be the best finished piece of ordnance yet turned out at the works. It will throw an immense projectile, calculated to damage any armor on which the ball will strike at right angles.

The Baton Rouge (La.) Advocate is hard on the Kentuckians, declaring, "We have had bad luck with Kentucky and her people." Crittenden, one of her sons, lost a battle he ought to have gained; Tighlman, another Kentuckian, gave up Fort Henry; Johnston, another Kentuckian, failed to save Fort Donelson, which he might have done; and Buckner, also a Kentuckian, surrendered 12,000 men. The Advocate is angry because Crittenden and Johnston are still continued in command, and anticipates that others would be if restored by exchange.

The number of alien passengers landed at the port of New York during the year 1861, was 65,529, which was a decrease from 1860 of 39,633, and 118,244 less than in 1857. Of these immigrants 27,149 were from Germany, 25,748 from Ireland, 5,632 from England, and 6,974 from other countries. The number of alien passengers that have arrived at New York since the year 1846, is 2,737,448.

Soft soaping the "Monitor."—A retired sea-captain suggests that the tower of the Ericsson battery Monitor should be covered with a coating of soap and tallow, (such as is frequently put on ships' bottom,) which would present a perfectly smooth surface and greatly increase the chances of shot glancing off, if they happen to hit the vessel.

Good for Pennsylvania.—Colonel Forney congratulates Pennsylvania upon the prospect of having new iron-clad gunboats, for the reason, among others, that "Pennsylvania iron will thus have a wide and almost limitless field before it, and the ingenuity and enterprise of inventors will be stimulated by the prospect of a lucrative return for their labors."

The Navy Department has made a contract with Capt. Ericsson for six iron gunboats on the plan of the Monitor, but of larger dimensions.

No provision is made for the pay of chaplains, and they are not recognized by the Government, except when specially assigned to a post by the War Department. When sent with a regiment of volunteers, the State must make provision for their payment.

A Bowie Knife Fight.—The following incident occurred in the recent fight at Pea Ridge, Arkansas:—While the fight was raging about Miser's farm house on the ridge on Friday morning, a soldier belonging to the Twenty-fifth Missouri and a member of a Mississippi company became separated from their commands and found each other climbing the same fence. The rebel had one of those long knives made of a file, which the South has so extensively paraded, but so seldom used, and the Missourian had one also, having picked it up on the field. The rebel challenged his enemy to a fair, open combat with the knife, intending to bully him, no doubt, and the challenge was accepted.—The two removed their coats, rolled up their sleeves and began. The Mississippian had more skill, but his opponent more strength, and consequently the latter could not strike his enemy, while he received several cuts on the head and breast. The blood began trickling down the Unionist's face, and running into his eyes, almost blinded him. The Union man became desperate, for he saw the Secessionist unhurt. He made a feint; the rebel leaned forward to arrest the blow, but employing too much energy, he could not recover himself at once. The Missourian perceived his advantage, and knew he could not lose it. In five seconds more it would be too late. His enemy glared at him like a wild beast—was on the eve of striking again.—Another feint; another dodge on the rebel's part, and then the heavy blade of the Missourian hurled through the air and fell with tremendous force upon the Mississippian's neck. The blood spurted from the throat and the head fell over, almost entirely severed from the body. Ghastly sight—too ghastly even for the doers of the deed! He fainted at the spectacle, weakened by the loss of his own blood, and was soon after butchered by a Seminole who saw him sink to the earth.

Firing a Mortar.—A correspondent of the Chicago Tribune says—The firing of a mortar is the very poetry of a battle. A bag of powder weighing from eighteen to twenty pounds is dropped into the bore of the huge monster. The derrick drops the shell in; the angle is calculated; a long cord is attached to the primer; the gunner stops out upon the platform, and the balance of the crew upon the shore. The Captain gives the word, the gunner gives his cord a sudden jerk, a crash like a thousand thunders follows, a tongue of flame leaps from the mouth of the mortar, and a column of smoke rolls up in beautiful fleecy spirals, developing into rings of exquisite proportions. One can see the shell as it leaves the mortar, flying through the air, apparently no larger than a marble. The next you see of the shell, a beautiful cloud of smoke bursts into sight, caused by the explosion. Imagine ten of these monsters thundering at once, the air filled with smoke clouds, the gunboats beleaguered out of existence and completely hidden from sight in whirls of smoke, the shell screaming through the air with an unearthly sound, and the distant guns of the enemy sending their solid shot and shell above and around us, dashing the water up in glistening columns and jets of spray, and you have the sublime poetry of war.

The Iron-Bound Naugatuck.—A telegraph dispatch mentioned recently that this vessel was in the waters near Fortress Monroe, and had exchanged some shots with the Merrimac and the rebel fleet, in company with the Octarora. This is a new battery or gunboat of Stevens. It is stated that she is not an exact model of Stevens' iron-clad battery, but is designed rather to illustrate one or two novel ideas connected with that monstrous engine of war, viz: the ability to sink and raise a vessel with great rapidity, to turn and manage her by two propellers located on each side of her stern; also taking up the recoil of the gun by means of india-rubber. The gun is mounted midship, pointed towards the bow, and is loaded from below, by depressing the muzzle downwards. The hull of the boat is constructed of iron, one hundred and one feet in length, twenty feet beam, and about seven feet deep. She draws about five and a half feet light, and nine feet when submerged. Her speed is eleven miles an hour light, and five and a half when submerged. She is not iron-clad, with the exception of the bow, but in action, when submerged, has two feet of water between the two decks and presents but a small surface upon which the enemy can bring their cannon to bear. In addition to her big gun, the Naugatuck carries two of James' twelve-pound howitzers.

THURSDAY MORNING, MAY 8, 1862

The Tendency of Peace Democracy.

Many of the former democrats who have gone into the "Union Democratic" organization, and joined in the general howl about "unconstitutionality," assumption of power," "corruption," &c, so persistently kept up by the genuine secessionists, we are led to believe do not seriously consider the company they keep, or the tendency of their associations. Whoever has had a vigilant eye as to how men have conducted themselves the past year, cannot fail to perceive the same arguments used to-day in favor of this "Union democracy" that were used a year ago against coercion by the now high priests and rulers of this wicked rebellion. Scarcely six months ago John C Breckinridge was defending the Constitution and making himself the champion of constitutional liberty by just such—by precisely the same—arguments that our orators on the democratic side are using to persuade the people of Oregon to vote their State ticket. Many a man that last Fall or Summer read the speeches of John C Breckinridge with approval and stood ready to follow whither they pointed, so far as mere words could indicate anything, would have repelled with anger the charge at that time that his champion and leader would carry him into the ranks of traitors; and many will find to their sorrow, unless we are misled by the antecedents of men, and by present indications, that we have Breckinridges among us. It is cheering, however, to notice that some who undertook to vamp up the old democratic concern are becoming satisfied that these "Union democratic" candidates are promising more than they can fulfill, and more than they ever intended to fulfill, that they profess what they do not and never did believe, and that their success will be a cause of anxiety and alarm to all lovers of true peace and of the Union.

The new apportionment of Ohio for nineteen members of Congress, so changes the districts that it will be impossible for the dirty dog Vallandigham to get a re election. He is thrown into a district good for 1,200 republican majority, according to former votes. The Columbus district is made still stronger democratic than ever before. The Cincinnati Enquirer figures up that fourteen districts are republican and five democratic, a democratic loss of two.

The Detroit Tribune reiterates a statement it made some months ago that a treasonable organization exists in that State, having branches in all the principal towns the object of which was first of all to prevent enlistments, and to make forcible resistance to any attempt to draft. It seems that it is still watching an opportunity to do mischief.

A Great Telescope.—David Alduill, of Sutter county, Cal., is about constructing a telescope which, it is believed will be larger than any one now in the United States. The tube will be thirteen and a half feet long and fifteen inches in diameter.

Patent medicine men are very nervous about the Federal tax bill. A committee representing that interest has been in Washington some days. They claim that the proposed stamp tax on proprietary medicines will amount to $6,000,000. The more the better.

The Springfield Republican says the work of gun making is crowded to such an extent at the armory now, that all the daylight there between sun and sun is used, and over $5,000 worth of gas per quarter.

The monument to be erected over the grave of David Broderick, at Lone Mountain Cemetery, is to be a column of California marble thirty one feet high, surmounted by a statue of the illustrious deceased.

A sergeant of the Twenty first Regiment writes that among the cannon captured by Gen Burnside, at Newbern, were thirteen brass field pieces taken by the enemy at Bull Run.

The Secretary of the Treasury lately received from a New York banking house $1,000, the gift of a patriotic American in Europe, for the purpose of war expenses.

A Mining Town Without Liquor.—It is said there is not a liquor shop or bar in the village of Last Chance, Cal., owing to the exertions of the Sons of Temperance.

Charles Mackay, the English poet, denies that he has anything whatever to do with the cause of secession.

British Opinion of American Soldiers.—Lord Lyons and the Prince de Joinville accompanied by a large number of ladies and members of the diplomatic corps, were in attendance recently at a grand review of Gen McDowell's Division, together with several British Colonels of note, and officers of the Coldstream Grenadier Guards, of Canada. Gen McClellan, with his entire staff, was on the field, and was everywhere received with the utmost enthusiasm. The British officers expressed great surprise at the superior stature, drill, and general appearance of the men and declared the troops to be unexcelled in all the elements of efficiency. Lord Lyons expressed the greatest admiration of the fine physique of the men and regarded them as the finest troops he had ever seen. It was plain, however, that the foreign military men did not consider the officers, as a class, equal to the rank and file.

A Truly Democratic President.—The frank simplicity and straightforwardness not unmixed with dignity of the President has been just illustrated by an incident which is probably without a parallel or precedent. The House Judiciary Committee who are engaged in ferreting out the details by which important State papers have been purloined and made public to the National detriment had before them the premature disclosure of the President's last annual Message. Apprised of the fact Mr Lincoln voluntarily sunk his position as Chief Magistrate and assuming that of the citizen appeared before the Committee as his witness, in order to put them in possession of the facts so far as they were known to him. The details of the interview are withheld but the incident is a happy illustration of the Republican simplicity of our Government and of the ingenuous character of its executive head.

Something over a year ago one Sobieski Bennett, who has had an occasional or transient domicile in St Louis, was arrested in Northern Ohio, charged with burglary. Before trial, by the aid of confederates, he broke jail and escaped. He was taken prisoner at Donelson, having a captaincy in the rebel army. Being identified, he was taken back, arraigned, plead guilty, and was sentenced to the penitentiary for a term of years. This is not the first instance of felons and escaped convicts being found decked with the insignia of military rank in the chivalrous army. There were several such in Western Virginia in the summer—"high-toned, Southern gentlemen, fighting for homes and hearth stone and all their cherished institutions!"—St Louis Democrat.

A correspondent of the New York Herald writing from Winchester, Va., relates the following:

'Horrors will never cease. I witnessed some scenes to-day which impressed me strongly with the civilization of the South. I visited the medical college in this town, where M. D.'s are furnished to the Southern Confederacy. Prominent among the objects in the museum was the body of John Brown, the integuments taken off, and the muscles, veins and arteries all preserved, the top of the cranium sawed off, and the lips purposely distorted with disrespect."—[It was the son of John Brown, whose body was treated as above described by the secession slaveholders.]

Another rifled gun of immense size has just been finished at the Fort Pitt Works, and shipped to Washington. It was made from the regular ten inch columbiad pattern and is of eight inches bore. The gun is consequently much heavier than the regular ten inch columbiad weighing it is said over eight tons. The rifling was performed in the most satisfactory manner, and the gun will be the best finished piece of ordnance yet turned out at the works. It will throw an immense projectile, calculated to damage any armor on which the ball will strike at right angles.

The Baton Rouge (La.) Advocate is hard on the Kentuckians, declaring: 'We have had bad luck with Kentucky and her people." Crittenden, one of her sons, lost a battle he ought to have gained; Lightman, another Kentuckian, gave up Fort Henry, Johnston, another Kentuckian, failed to save Fort Donelson, which he might have done; and Buckner, also a Kentuckian, surrendered 12,000 men. The Advocate is angry because Crittenden and Johnston are still continued in command, and anticipates that others would be if restored by exchange.

The number of alien passengers landed at the port of New York during the year 1861 was 65,529, which was a decrease from 1860 of 39,613, and 108,211 less than in 1857. Of these immigrants 27,113 were from Germany 20,748 from Ireland, 5,602 from England and 6,074 from other countries. The number of alien passengers that have arrived at New York since the year 1846, is 2,737,448.

Sir Somebody the Monitor.—A retired sea captain suggests that the tower of the Ericsson battery Monitor should be covered with a coating of soap and tallow (such as is frequently put on ships' bottom) which would present a perfectly smooth surface and greatly increase the chances of shot glancing off, if they happen to hit the vessel.

Good for Pennsylvania.—Colonel Torney congratulates Pennsylvania upon the prospect of having new ironclad gunboats for the reason among others, that Pennsylvania iron will thus have a wide and almost limitless field before it, and the ingenuity and enterprise of inventors will be stimulated by the prospect of a lucrative return for their labors."

The Navy Department has made a contract with Capt Ericsson for six iron gunboats on the plan of the Monitor, but of larger dimensions.

A Bowie Knife Duel.—The following incident occurred in the recent fight at Pea Ridge, Arkansas.—While the fight was raging about Miser's farm house on the ridge on Friday morning a soldier belonging to the Twenty fifth Missouri and a member of a Mississippi company became separated from their commands and found each other alone, the smoke of battle hiding them from sight. Their bellicose ardor to test long knives made of a file, which the South has so extensively paraded, but so seldom used, and the Missourian had one also, having picked it up on the field. The rebel challenged his enemy to a fair, open combat with the knife intending to bully him, no doubt; and the challenge was accepted.—The two gentlemen then coats, rolled up their sleeves and began. The Mississippian had more skill, but his opponent more strength, and consequently the latter could not strike his enemy, while he received several cuts on the head and breast. The blood began trickling down the Unionist's face, and running into his eyes, almost blinded him. The Union man became desperate, for he saw the Secessionist unhurt. He made a feint, the rebel bowed forward to arrest the blow, but employing too much energy, he could not recover himself at once. The Missourian perceived his advantage, and knew he could not lose it. In five seconds more it would be too late. His enemy gained at him like a wild beast—was on the eve of striking again.—Another feint, another dodge on the rebel's part, and then the heavy blade of the Missourian hurled through the air and fell with tremendous force upon the Mississippian's neck. The blood spurted from the throat and the head fell over, almost entirely severed from the body. Ghastly sight—too ghastly even for the door of the dead! He fainted at the spectacle, weakened by the loss of his own blood, and was soon after butchered by a Seminole who saw him sink in the earth.

Firing a Mortar.—A correspondent of the Chicago Tribune says—The firing of a mortar is the very poetry of a battle. A bag of powder weighing from eighteen to twenty pounds is dropped into the bore of the huge monster. The derrick drops the shell in, the angle is calculated, a long cord is attached to the primer; the gunner steps out upon the platform, and the balance of the crew upon the shore. The Captain gives the word, the gunner gives his cord a sudden jerk, a crash like a thousand thunders follows, a tongue of flame leaps from the mouth of the mortar, and a column of smoke rolls up in beautiful fleecy spirals developing into rings of exquisite proportions. One can see the shell as it leaves the mortar flying through the air, up nearly so high as a marble. The next we see of the shell, a beautiful cloud of smoke bursts into sight caused by the explosion. Then one ten of these monsters thunders, and the air is filled with smoke clouds through which long red destruction, and completely hidden from sight in whirls of smoke the shell screaming through the air with an unearthly sound and the distant guns of the enemy sending their solid shot and shell above and around us, dashing the water up in glistening columns and jets of spray and you have the sublime poetry of war.

The Iron Boat Naugatuck.—A telegraphic dispatch mentioned recently that this vessel was in the waters near Fortress Monroe, and had exchanged some shots with the Merrimac and the rebel fleet, in company with the Octarora. This is a new battery or gunboat of Stevens. It is stated that she is not an exact model of Stevens's iron clad battery, but is designed rather to illustrate one or two novel ideas connected with that monstrous engine of war, viz: the ability to sink and raise herself with great rapidity, to turn and navigate her by two propellers located in each side of the stern, also taking up the recoil of the gun by means of india rubber. The gun is mounted midship pointed towards the bow, and is loaded from below by lowering the muzzle downward. The hull itself is constructed of iron, one hundred and forty feet in length twenty feet beam at the water seven feet deep. She draws at the bow but half feet light and nine feet when submerged. Her speed in calm smiles is nine light and five and a half when submerged. She is not ironclad, with the exception of the low bar in action, when submerged has two feet water between the two decks and presents but a small surface upon which the enemy can bring their cannon to bear. In addition to her big gun, the Naugatuck carries two of James' twelve-pound howitzers.

A CARD.

I would say to my friends in the Willamette Valley, and to all who are afflicted with diseases of the bronchial tubes and lungs, that Dr. J. Flattery will be in Portland about April 6th, and will be prepared to relieve and cure those who are thus afflicted. Dr. Flattery's system of inhalation has accomplished wonders. My health was well known to many in Portland and ... when I left Oregon in the fall of '59. My ... I despaired that I could not live long. Through the system of inhalation as prescribed by Dr. Flattery, I have so far recovered as to be able for many months to pursue my business with energy and satisfaction. I consider it but proper to say, and in the Sacramento Valley who were considered in health, who have by Dr. F.'s system, been restored to their friends and to the enjoyment of health. I say to the afflicted, try this new system and live.

H. S. PIKE.

N. B.—The above card was not asked for by Dr. Flattery, nor does he know that it is written. It is prompted by gratitude and a regard for the afflicted.

☞ The Medical and Surgical Institute of DR. L. J. CZAPKAY is already secured in a position which places it, as well as its proprietor, far above the assaults of envy and professional malice. In the schools of France, the highest prizes are often awarded to practitioners in this department of medical science, and they occupy, with others, an equally lofty position in the profession. Ricord is an illustrious example, a shining light among the philosophical sages of his age in Europe, and Dr. Czapkay, hopefully equalled him in this country, as a proof of which, the Philadelphia College of Medicine complimented him with a Diploma, and the honorary degree, Doctor in Medicine. Selecting this as his field of operation, although qualified as a graduate of the University of Pesth, and late Chief Surgeon of the Hungarian Revolutionary army, for more extended, Liberty Dr. L. J. Czapkay has built his career of attention to the cure of chronic and private diseases, in which he has become a great an expert, that he is most regarded as the leader in this branch of his profession throughout the United States, and his portrait and biography are published as matter of interest to their readers in the most exclusive journals. The Doctor's offices are at his Medical and Surgical Institute, on Sacramento st. cor. of Leidesdorff, nearly opposite the building of the Pacific Mail Steamship Company, San Francisco. We ask particular attention of our readers to the sworn certificates of remarkable cures, in another column of this paper. Persons not wishing to lose time in correspondence, please inclose $10; their letters and they will get immediate attention to their cases. Address, L. J. CZAPKAY, M. D. Information of James B. Hughes Wanted.

JAMES B. HUGHES is supposed to have been a resident of Portland, Oregon. For about ten years past his friends in Michigan have not heard from him. A short time since it was understood by his friends in Michigan that he had died some time about the 1st of March, 1861, and that he left a large amount of property. In person he was short and thick set man, of dark complexion, sharp featured, and by occupation a lumber dealer and commission merchant, owning extensive lumber and planing mills. His present age, if he was living, would be about forty-one years. He went to California in 1849. His home previous to new was Chicago, Ill. It is supposed that he left a wife and two children, but that they are since deceased.

Should any citizen of Oregon or Washington Territory or California, possess any knowledge of this James B. Hughes and will communicate the same to the editor of this paper or the undersigned, a great favor will be conferred, which will be duly acknowledged.

For the Oregonian

Johnny Bull.

That same Old Bull who sits ensconced upon his fog wrapt island,
Who vainly claims to own the seas as well as all the dry land,
Who sports a flag whose waving folds creation doth astonish
Whose morning drum beats round the world the nations to admonish,
Whose lordly boasts and kingly threats are heard throughout creation,
Who looks with proud contempt and scorn on every other nation,
And claims by kingly right divine with most intense devotion
To search the deck of every ship that floats above the ocean,
To twine about a tyrant's brow another ill earned laurel
Has set his head and horns to work to crack another quarrel
But better men than Johnny Bull have missed their calculation,
And found they had not in the end improved their situation
As up and down our coast his eye was making wide extension,
Rebellion rankling in our midst arrested his attention
And Bully shook his horns and said, "No power on earth shall turn me,
Again I'll boldly interfere and make this thing concern me"
Then Bully kissed the South, and laid his soothing hand upon her,
And vowed that all she said or did was Justice, Law and Honor,
But fearing that old Uncle Sam might meditate resistance,
He bowed before the rebel chief and tendered his assistance
And then he sent his royal yacht, let it not be forgotten,
To bring the representatives of Carolina Cotton,
Who bore a traitor's edict bold, a traitor's base commission,
To bring from Bully's royal court the promised recognition
But Wilkes with promptness interfered, and checked this bold aggression,
And told the Bull to count the cost before he took possession.
But Bully swore that forty long apologies were due him
And thought of course that Uncle Sam would surely knuckle to him.
Now one of Bull's peculiar traits in such a situation
Is when he fails by blustering threats to try negotiation,
And so he has his treaties made in such ambiguous jargon,
That when it suits his case he can repudiate the bargain
And then he sent a pampered pet, a chosen British scion
Who though he was not king of beasts, had dubbed himself a Lyon,
To advertise Old Uncle Sam and all his Yankee nation
That Bull had got a title-deed to all this wide creation;
That what he said was always right in every situation,
That what he did would not admit of any alteration,
To urge his manufactured claim and make a grand suggestion,
And then on Bull's behalf decide this all-important question:
Whether Uncle Samuel's rights to nothing down be dwindled,
Or whether he again shall be by British tyrants swindled
Shall he relinquish all his rights and be disgraced forever?—
But MARK! I hear the Nation shout in thunder-toned "No! never!"
Then Seward "cocked his eye askance," a wished for boon descrying,
And laid his plans in double quick, the Bull's own laws applying,
And by a well-directed stroke of diplomacy clever,
Has laid a plaster where 'twill stick, and where 'twill stick forever.
Now should he draw his blood-stained sword, by all the Lares of Lundy,
Well meet his proud usurping horde from Fuca's Straits to Fundy,
That noble spot, that dauntless stain, entailed by Polk's surrender
Shall be expunged, whate'er the cost we may be called to tender,
No cramped or pent-up boundaries shall then confront our powers
For all this broad-spread continent must surely will be ours
Our natural boundaries we shall gain, despite all British malice,
Though they extend, as one has claimed, "from Hell to Pentalia!"

COTTAGE GROVE, April 15th, 1862. O. P. Q.

The Three Travelling-Bags.

CHAPTER I.

There were three of them, all of shining black leather: one on top of the pile of trunks, one on the ground; one in the owner's hand; all going to Philadelphia; all waiting to be checked.

The last bell rang. The baggageman bustled, fuming, from one pile to another, dispensing chalk to the trunks, checks to the passengers, and curses to the porters, in approved railway style.

"Mine!—Philadelphia!" cried a stout, military-looking man, with enormous whiskers and a red face, crowding forward, as the baggageman laid his hand on the first bag.

"Won't you please to give me a check for this, now?" entreated a pale, slender, carefully-dressed young man, for the ninth time, holding out bag No. 2. "I have a lady to look after."

"Say! be you agoin' to give me a check for that ar', or not?" growled the proprietor of bag No. 3, a short, pockmarked fellow, in a shabby overcoat.

"All right, gentlemen. Here you are, says the functionary, rapidly distributing the checks. "Philadelfy, this? Yes, sir,—1092—1749.11—1020. All right."

"All aboard!" shouted the conductor.

"Who-Whew!" responded the locomotive; and the train moved slowly out of the station-house.

The baggageman meditatively watched it, as it sped away in the distance; and then, as if a thought suddenly struck him, slapping his thigh, he exclaimed.

"Blest if I don't believe—"

"What?" inquired the switchman.

"That I've gone and guv them three 'last fellers the wrong checks! The cussed little black things was all alike, and they bothered me."

"Telegraph," suggested the switchman.

"Never you mind," replied the baggageman. "They were all going to Philadelfy. They'll find it out when they get there."

They did.

CHAPTER II.

The scene shifts to the Continental Hotel, Philadelphia. Front parlor, up stairs. Occupants, the young gentleman alluded to in Chapter I, and a young lady. In accordance with the fast usages of the times, the train had been made one in holy matrimony at 7:30 A. M.; duly kissed and congratulated till 8:15; put on board the express at 8:45, and deposited at the Continental, bag and baggage, by 12:58.

They were seated on the sofa the black broad-cloth coat sleeve encircling the slender waist of the gray traveling dress, and the fetty moustache in equally affectionate proximity to the glossy curls.

"Are you tired, dearest?"

"No, love, not much; but you are, arn't you?"

"No, darling."

Kiss and a pause.

"Don't it seem funny?" said the lady.

"What, love?"

"That we should be married?"

"Yes, darling."

"Won't they be glad to see us at George's?"

"Of course they will"

"I'm sure I shall enjoy it so much. Shall we get there to night?"

"Yes, love, if—"

Rap-rap-rap rap at the door

A hasty separation took place between man and wife—to opposite ends on the sofa, and then—

"Come in."

"Av ye plaze, sur, it's an M. P. is waiting to see yez."

"To see me?" A policeman?"

"Yis, sur,"

"There must be some mistake?"

"No, sur, it's yourself; and he's waiting in the hall beyant"

Efficiency in Working.

A GOOD SEWING MACHINE

SHOULD BE WELL MADE, simple in its construction, and easily kept in order, should make a tight LOCK STITCH, alike on both sides of the material, and should sew any and all materials that can be sewed.

It should be able to use cotton, thread, or silk, directly from the spool, and to sew from coarse to fine, and from thick to thin, with rapidity, and without changing the tension. It should also be able to make the tension greater or less, on both the under and upper threads, and with uniformity; and should have a straight needle, curved ones being liable to break.

The needle should have perpendicular motion—this is absolutely necessary for heavy work.

It should be able to bind with a binder, hem with a hemmer, should stitch, fell, run and gather, and always ready to work.

It should be capable of using the same size thread on both sides of the work, and of using different colored thread or silk, above or below, to correspond with any two colors of cloth to be united.

It should be able to make a long or short stitch, and to fasten off the seam, and commence sewing tightly at the first stitch, and to run easily, and make but little noise.

It should have a wheel-feed; no others are in constant contact with the work.

It should not be liable to get out of order; neither should it require a screw-driver or wrench to set the needle.

It should not be liable to oil the operator's dress.

It should not form a ridge on the under side, or ravel.

DR. L. J. CZAPKAY'S

Private Medical & Surgical Institute,

SACRAMENTO STREET, BELOW MONTGOMERY,

Opposite Pacific Mail Steamship Company's Office, San Francisco

ESTABLISHED IN 1854 FOR THE PERMANENT cure of all Chronic and Private Diseases, and the SUPPRESSION OF QUACKERY. Attending and Resident Physician, L. J. CZAPKAY, M. D., late in the Hungarian Revolutionary War; Chief Physician to the 20th Regiment of Honveds, Chief Surgeon to the Military Hospital of Vacth, Hungary, the late Lecturer on Diseases of the Genito-Urinary Organs, and Diseases of Women and Children, and Honorary Member of the Philadelphia College of Medicine.

☞ Particular attention paid to the treatment of diseases peculiar to Women and Children.

Office Hours—From 9 A. M. to 9 P. M.

☞ Communications strictly confidential. Permanent cure guaranteed, or no fee. Consultations, by letter or otherwise, FREE.

Address, DR. L. J. CZAPKAY, San Francisco.

Of all diseases the first great cause,
Springs from neglect of Nature's laws

To the Afflicted:

Suffer not when a cure is guaranteed. In all stages of secret Disease, Self-Abuse, Nervous Debility, Syphilis in all its stages, Stricture, Gleet, Gravel, Diabetes, diseases of the Kidneys and Bladder, Mercurial Rheumatism, Scrofula, Pains in the Bones and Ankles, Soreness of the Lungs, Throat, Nose and Eyes, Ulcers upon the Body or Limbs, Cancers, Dropsy, Epileptic Fits, St. Vitus Dance—and all diseases arising from a derangement of the sexual organs—such as Nervous Trembling, Loss of Memory, Loss of Power, General Weakness, Dimness of Vision, with peculiar spots appearing before the eyes, Loss of Sight, Wakefulness, Dyspepsia, Liver Diseases, Eruptions upon the Face, Pains in the Back and Head, Female Irregularities—and all improper discharges of both sexes. It matters not from what cause the disease originated, however long standing or obstinate the case, recovery is certain, and in a shorter time than a permanent cure can be effected by any other treatment, even after the disease has baffled the skill of eminent physicians, and resisted all their means of cure. The medicines prescribed are pleasant, without odor entirely vegetable, causing no sickness, and free from mercury or ball-sam. During fifteen years of practice in Europe, the Atlantic States and California, I have rescued from the jaws of death many thousands, who, in the last stages of the above-mentioned diseases, had been given up to die by their physicians, which warrants me in promising to the afflicted, who may place themselves under my care, a speedy and permanent cure. Private Diseases are the greatest enemies to health, as they are the first cause of consumption, scrofula, and many other diseases, and should be a terror to the human family. A permanent cure is scarcely ever effected in a majority of cases falling into the hands of incompetent persons, who not only fail to cure the disease, but ruin the constitution, filling the system with mercury which, with the disease, hastens the sufferer into a rapid consumption. Not should the disease and the treatment not cause death speedily, and the victim marries, the disease is entailed upon the children who are born with feeble constitutions and the current of life corrupted by a virus which betrays itself in scrofula, tetter, ulcerations and other affections of the skin, eyes, throat and lungs, entailing upon them a brief existence of suffering, and consigning them to an early grave.

Self-abuse is another formidable enemy to health, for nothing else in the direful catalogue of human diseases causes so direct destruction of life upon the system—drawing into the vortex of victims through a few years of suffering down to an untimely grave. It destroys the nervous system, rapidly wastes away the energies of life, causes mental derangement, prevents the proper development of the system, disqualifies for marriage, society, business and all earthly happiness, and leaves the sufferer wrecked in body and mind, predisposed to consumption and a train of evils more to be dreaded than death itself. With the fullest confidence I assure the unfortunate victims of self-abuse that a perfect and speedy cure can be effected, and with the abandonment of ruinous practices, my patients can be restored to sound, vigorous health.

Irregularities, and all diseases of males and females, treated on principles established by fifteen years of practice and sanctioned by thousands of the most remarkable cures—Medicines, with full directions, sent to any part of the States, Oregon and Washington Territory, by patients communicating their symptoms by letter.

All business and correspondence strictly confidential. Address DR. L. J. CZAPKAY, Medical Institute, Sacramento street, below Montgomery, opposite Pacific Mail Steamship Co.'s Office, San Francisco.

Remarkable Instance of Medical Relief.

Below we publish the certificates of three of the sufferers from the pangs of disease, who, having recovered their former health, and impelled by gratitude make known their cases and remedial agent, and their statements are authenticated by a Notary Public. These commands of society imperiously command their publicity, and we comply and their perusal is the attention of all afflicted.

Certificate—The undersigned desirous of acquainting those who may be unfortunate enough to be similarly afflicted, where a permanent relief of their sufferings may be obtained, feels it his duty to thus publicly express his most sincere gratitude to Dr. L. J. Czapkay, for the permanent recovery of his health. Having been by the distressing symptoms incident to the vicious practices of unreflecting passion in youth, depressed in body and mind, unable to perform even the most trifling duty imposed upon the ordinary avocations of life, I sought the advice of many physicians, who at first regarded my disease as of trifling importance—but, alas! after a few weeks, and in several instances, months, of their treatment, I found to my unutterable horror that instead of relief, my symptoms became more alarming in their torture; and being told by one that my disease being principally confined to the brain medicine would be of little consequence, I despaired of ever regaining my health, strength, and energy; and as a last resort, and with but a faint hope, called upon Dr. Czapkay who, after examining my case, prescribed some medicine which almost instantly relieved me of the dull pain and dizziness in my head. Encouraged by the result I resolved to place myself immediately under his care, and by a strict obedience to all his directions and advice, was soon become clear and my ideas collected, the constant pain in my back and groins the size of my limbs, the nervous agitation of my whole body on the slightest alarm or excitement, the misanthropy and evil forebodings, the solitude and want of confidence in others the incapability to study, and want of resolution, the frightful, exciting, and at times pleasurable dreams at night, followed by involuntary discharges, have disappeared; and in fact, in two months after having placed myself under the doctor, I felt as if inspired by a new life. I will say, but a short time ago I contemplated to end by my own hand. With the view to guard the unfortunate from falling into the snares of the incompetent quacks, I deem it my duty to offer this testimony to the merit and skill of Dr. Czapkay, and recommend him to all who may stand in need of medical advice, being assured by my own experience that all placed under his care a radical and permanent cure will be effected.

MARYSVILLE, June 24, 1861.

DR. L. J. CZAPKAY, San Francisco—Sir: I have used the last of your medicine, and do not think I shall need more, as I feel very well, except that I have not regained my strength yet; but soon will with the use of your medicine. It is just three weeks you may recollect, since I called at your institute, with my constitution, as I thought, entirely, and never thought you would be able to make me perfectly, but thought you might be able to do something to ease the pain in my back and head, and strengthen my nerves, so that I would not get excited and worry at everything. Now that you know what I say, you can judge of my satisfaction at my complete recovery from all my symptoms, and the removal of those sores and blotches on my skin, and the ulcers from my throat, and especially the passage of those emissions, which you said were principally the cause of my sickness. I can hardly tell you which is the greatest, my joy or my surprise, for except at first, when I got my strength I feel as well as any man can feel.

Enclosed I send you twenty dollars over your fee. I think myself cheaply cured. If you think a portion of it will be benefited, you may put this letter in the newspapers. Yours gratefully yours,
